Talent and Culture

Supporting talent and promoting culture is the strategic centre of the activity carried out by Banco Sabadell Foundation. Our commitment to these areas has consolidated and continued to grow since 2020. Our commitment has been sealed through our support and collaboration with different entities who promote projects of this nature.

The projects and collaborations which we have supported during 2020 have been characterised by their excellence, efficiency, determination and our close relationship with the entities and the beneficiaries.

We do not believe in culture without talent or talent without culture. Knowledge and talent are the foundations of progress in society. They are both pools of knowledge which feed each other and drive social progression. This is clear through our commitment to talented people under 42, through granting scholarships and awards.

The projects and collaborations which we have supported during 2020 have been characterised by their excellence, efficiency, determination and our close relationship with the entities and the beneficiaries.

This report aims to be a useful source of information so that the reader can gain an insight into the projects led by Banco Sabadell Foundation, the entities with which it collaborates and the persons who benefit from these collaborations.

15th Banco Sabadell Foundation Award for Biomedical Research

The Banco Sabadell Foundation has given out its 15th Award for Biomedical Research, one of the most important accolades in Spain's biomedical industry.

Award for scientists under the age of 42 who have developed their careers in Spain and have promising future prospects.

Dr Guillermina López-Bendito has been recognised for her innovative contribution in the field of developmental neurobiology, making pioneering contributions to understanding the formation and plasticity of nerve connections during brain development, under normal conditions and in sensory deprivation models.

“These awards are fundamental because they provide visibility, they recognise the work of scientists, who do what I call painstaking work – slow work but for everyone’s benefit.

Investing in science means investing in the future of society. Because the ultimate goal of science is to improve our our well-being by building our knowledge to develop future tools that will improve our quality of life”

Dr Guillermina López-Bendito, 15th Banco
Sabadell Foundation Award for Biomedical Research.

19th Banco Sabadell Foundation Award for Economic Research

The Banco Sabadell Foundation has given out the 19th Banco Sabadell Foundation Award for Economic Research.

It rewards and recognises the work of researchers in the fields of economic, business, legal and social knowledge.

Dr Eduardo Morales was awarded for his research into the strategic decisions made by companies and how they contribute to their export behaviour and their capacity for innovation.

“Awards such as this one play a fundamental role when it comes to giving visibility to our research. As social researchers, we always aspire to be able to have a positive impact on society and to help resolve the social problems that we face. This type of recognition is essential for us to address those social problems”

Dr Eduardo Morales, 19th Banco Sabadell Foundation Award for Economic Research.

2nd ANFACO & Banco Sabadell Foundation Design Award

The Foundation has given out the 2nd ANFACO & Banco Sabadell Foundation Design Award in order to recognise and foster creative talent among young designers and give them an opportunity to showcase their work.

This design will be used on the sleeves of tins used in the campaign to encourage people to eat more tinned fish and seafood, called “Cata la Lata”, over the coming year. In addition to the winner, 9 other finalists have been selected and included in a digital catalogue together with the award-winning design.

Victoria Ochoa was awarded for her packaging design, “CONTINUI-T”, for its original graphics and versatile usage.

“I am thrilled to have received this award, I never thought I would be able to have this type of experience this early on in my career. Being selected out of a group of such talented people is definitely a sign that I have chosen the right path and that I need to and learning as much as I can. This is why I am so grateful that there are opportunities like this one where students' work is recognised and they are given a platform from which they can showcase their talent going forward”

Victoria Ochoa, 2nd ANFACO & Banco Sabadell Foundation Design Award.

4th Banco Sabadell Foundation Award for Science and Engineering

The Banco Sabadell Foundation has given out its 4th Award for Science and Engineering, in collaboration with BIST (Barcelona Institute of Science and Technology), in order to reaffirm the recognition of young researchers resident in Spain specialising in fields such as mathematics, chemistry, physics and engineering.

Award for successful career with a view to fostering, discovering and supporting talent.

Dr Nanda Rea was awarded for her contribution to the field of astrophysics. Her research focuses on the study of neutron stars with extremely strong magnetic fields called magnetars, which are a particular type of pulsar.

“This type of award is extremely important, as it helps make people aware of young scientists’ research and, in my case, it also helps give visibility to the importance of women in the world of science, so that this can start to become the norm among young people”

Dr. HANUJA KESR, TUN DAIKU JAGADHAN Awardee for Science and Engineering.

Classical music and young talent

This scholarship programme organised by the Academia ADDA Sinfónica in Alicante opens the door to a wide range of opportunities for young musicians in professional training, offering them a chance for a unique educational and musical experience that will mark a turning point in their careers.

It is a training event linked to the Orchestra's activity. The idea of inviting musicians to take part is so that they can learn by doing, following the instructions of the orchestra teacher, the guest conductors and the principal conductor.

Led by Josep Vicent, this project is aimed at young, talented musicians between the ages of 16 and 30 and it has already offered 100 scholarships to 100 musicians.

“Receiving the Banco Sabadell Foundation scholarship to take part as an academic together with ADDA Sinfónica has been a wonderful personal and artistic experience for me as a professional musician”

Violeta, recipient of the Foundation's scholarship.

Classical music played by young talented musicians

22 students of the Reina Sofía School of Music have taken part in the fourth edition of the 'Entrepreneurship, Leadership and Innovation' programme, and a scholarship has been given out thanks to a collaboration between the Banco Sabadell Foundation and the Reina Sofía School of Music for the 2020/2021 academic year.

The Entrepreneurship, Leadership and Innovation programme aims to give young students the cross-cutting skills that they need to succeed in their future careers and to make them aware of the role that artists play in society. Full scholarship for tuition and residence for one student from the Reina Sofía School of Music, in Madrid, for the 2020/2021 academic year.

“Last year I took part in the School’s Entrepreneurship Programme and it really was an incredibly rewarding and enriching experience, as it allowed me to work on a project for children based on the opera ‘Carmen: Conectando Mundos”

Karla Martínez, student at the Reina Sofía
School of Music.

conectArte, cultural event

This year, the third edition of conectArte was held in virtual format and as part of the Sonar+D programme at the CCCB.

The aim of the event is to offer a space in which to create new opportunities and possible partnerships and exchanges between the various institutions that collaborate with the Banco Sabadell Foundation in cultural projects and talent programmes (visual arts, music, poetry, painting, innovation, theatre, literature, etc.).

43 of the cultural organisations that work with us from all over Spain took part in this event in order to reflect on the future of culture.

“For me, conectARTE has been a source of inspiration, a reason to dream big and a way of coming up with new management approaches for the world of culture”

Maria Pereira, director of the Cidade da Cultura in Galicia.

Covid-19 Seroprevalence Study

The Banco Sabadell Foundation is funding the first seroprevalence study of Covid-19 carried out by the Parc Taulí Hospital in Sabadell.

This is a groundbreaking study into the immune response among the hospital's medical staff and a large group of patients, as well as in the target population in the city and region of Sabadell.

It aims to determine what proportion of the population has developed immunity to Covid-19 and to measure their antibody response in order to steer future efforts to protect people from the virus.

Create. Film. Awake.

The Dentro Cine school in Cineteca Madrid is an experimental project designed to provide artistic education through film.

It is aimed at young people in socially disadvantaged situations aged between 16 and 23, who are unemployed and have no qualifications. It pursues the dual objective of giving them practical training in film language and giving them tools for dialogue, self-assessment, expression, empowerment and knowledge.

25 students have taken part in the project, supported by teachers, choosing artistic expression as an outlet, all the while remaining in constant contact with the team of the ASPA programme. They have created the feature film 'Love without City' ("Amor sin Ciudad").

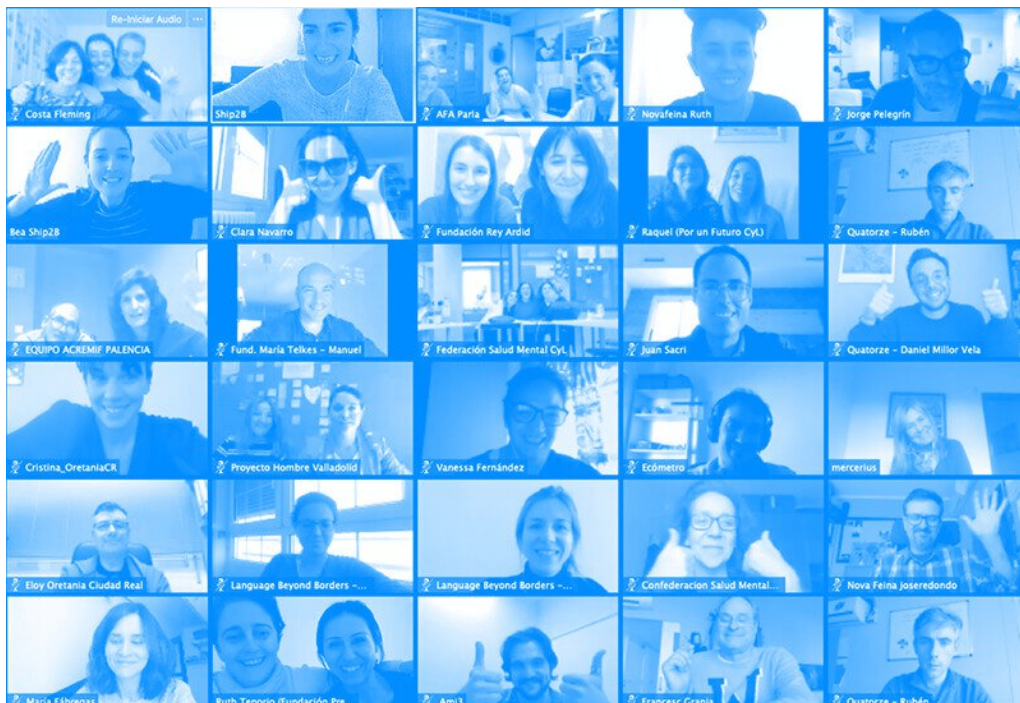

Fostering social innovation

40 social entities throughout Spain have taken part in the fourth edition of B-Value, which we are promoting together with the Ship2B Foundation, in order to help these entities develop new approaches to professional development and sustainability.

For nine months, these entities have received training and mentoring from different professionals who have helped them rethink their projects and make their value propositions more professional.

40 social entities, 11 finalists, 59 mentors from different industries, 18 coaches 5 entities have been awarded in this year's edition: Asindown Foundation, Quatorze Association, AsoPMR, Prenauta Foundation and Yoga Sin Fronteras.

“B-Value is not only a programme in which they make you work hard, but it is also a place where you can dream, where you can turn things upside down, the more times the better, only then are you able to grow”

Meritxell Martorell, founder of Yoga Sin

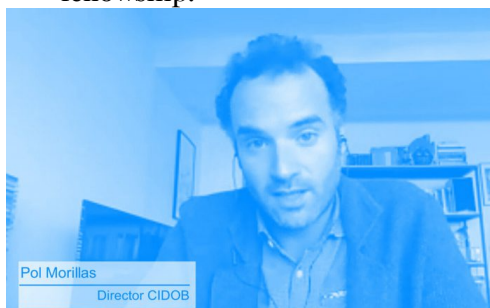

Fronteras

Global Talent Programme: young researchers

The Global Talent Programme is the product of a partnership between the Banco Sabadell Foundation and CIDOB and aims to promote high-quality research among young researchers.

The 'Global Challenges Talent' and 'Talent in 21st Century Europe' awards recognise high-quality research and are given to research papers of the highest academic standard that demonstrate an original analytical approach and include applied research.

'Junior Visiting Fellowship': this research fellowship aims to promote the training of young, talented researchers up to age 30 and give them an opportunity to join the CIDOB research team for a six-month period in a paid fellowship.

“The Global Talent Programme is a testament to the commitment to fostering research in international relations and European politics, with a particular emphasis on young researchers, which CIDOB has been promoting since it was first founded more than 40 years ago”

Pol Morillas, director of CIDOB.

Generation 2020. La Casa Encendida

La Casa Encendida will be exhibiting the winning projects of Generation 2020, organised by the Montemadrid Foundation. It is aimed at artists under the age of 35.

On the jury this year were Lisette Lagnado, curator of the 11th Berlin Biennale for Contemporary Art; Fernando Pérez, director of Azkuna Zentroa Alhóndiga Bilbao; and Marta Rincón, scheduling manager at Acción Cultural Española (AC/E).

The eight selected artists and their projects are: Elisa Celda with O arrais do mar; Miguel Marina with Celada; Gala Knörr with Good Bad Not Evil; Claudia Rebeca Lorenzo with Txukela; Oier Iruretagoiena with Paisaje sin mundo (mural); Nora Silva with No Fall Games; Cristina Mejías with La máquina de Macedonio and Javier Arbizu with Knee-deep.

Horagai. Una inmersión al cine

La Selva, Ecosistema Creativo is a film production studio that is seeking to facilitate and promote the creation, production and post-production of independent films.

In September, for the first time, it launched the first edition of HORAGAI, a creative space for workshops and the creation of audiovisual pieces based on 4 elements: space, character, action and object.
The programme has spots for 20 young people at risk of social exclusion aged between 16 and 18.

Improving education through culture

‘A Tempo – Arts i Formació’ is a project designed to create and promote spaces where people from the educational sector and the cultural sector can come together and interact with each other.

It puts an end to the idea that education and culture are two entirely separate areas. To achieve this, the project promotes exchanges between students, teachers and professionals in performing arts in order to create spaces where students can enjoy new cultural experiences and see what the world of theatre is like first-hand.

The ‘A Tempo’ training projects are also aimed at professionals in the world of education, and they offer various courses and seminars designed to promote the teaching of art in educational establishments.

“Artes para educar en la incertidumbre” (‘Art to educate in times of uncertainty’), designed to reflect on the lessons learnt during lockdown that have become a priority for any transformative educational project.

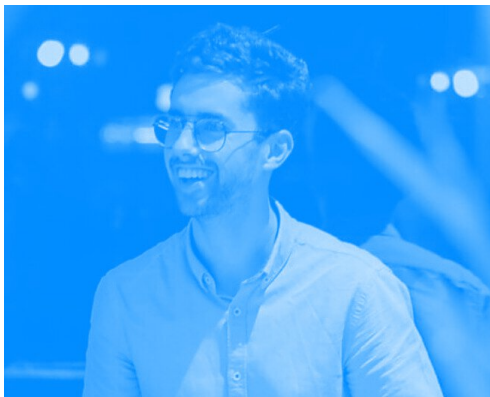

People Accelerator

Celera, the talent accelerator, is the first programme that accelerates people, rather than projects.

Those selected receive training that has been designed specifically for them, and various conferences, workshops, courses and activities are organised that focus on developing their skills.

These are young people who stand out in a wide range of sectors, including physics, mathematics, engineering, psychology, economics, communication, medicine and entrepreneurship.

“Celera brings together talented people in a three-year programme where they can develop their social and emotional skills”

Manuel Esbrí, one of the 10 young people selected in the sixth edition of Celera.

Sant Andreu Jazz Band

Seventh edition of the Sant Andreu Jazz Band and second edition of the Jazz Education Stage, with Joan Chamorro.

Jazzing, the Festival and Campus (for young people and teachers) promote local talent and combine live and streamed performances and classes. The artists (teachers) invited to take part in this edition are: Perico Sambeat, Carlos Martín, Andrea Motis, Èlia Bastida, Joan Marc Sauqué, Carla Motis, Manel Fortià and Don Sickler (streamed from New York).

Young artists come together

The Cidade da Cultura in Galicia has become, for the tenth consecutive year, a space where new artists can come together.

40 budding artists were selected to present their project, with the Ruta Xacobeas as a backdrop, during a four-day stay in the Gaiás, where they shared their work and discussed contemporary art while living together for four days and exchanging knowledge and ideas with other cultural operators.

Led by Rafael Doctor, it offers the chance to talk to experienced artists such as Oliver Laxe, Paula Rubio Infante, Chelo Matesanz and Carlos Aires, to share their experiences and thoughts about art.

The 10th Encontro de Artistas Novos - #EAN10, coordinated by Rafael Doctor, took place from 23 to 27 August 2020.

Young people building the future

Reto Futuro is a social entrepreneurship programme aimed at young people in vulnerable situations. It is designed to offer them educational content, accessible technological tools and the support of mentors, so that they can go through a learning and transformative experience that prepares them for a future that they themselves can create. We co-created this initiative, at the height of the pandemic, working together with the Exit Foundation and the Imagine Creativity Center.

The three winning teams were three youths from the Madrid Down Association, with their project: Zoomba; the team behind 'Cruzar Para Mejorar' by Transpirenaica; and the Next Station team, with the HagarApp designed by the Resilis Foundation.

“The Reto Futuro programme has shown me a new way to identify problems and find their solutions. I also loved being able to meet all the amazing people in my group. Dreams really can come true”, ”

Mohammed, of the Resilis Foundation, one of the three winning teams of Reto Futuro.

Young Talents Cycle

The Amigos del Teatro Real Foundation has organised a series of four chamber music concerts with the collaboration of the Banco Sabadell Foundation and the participation of the Reina Sofía School of Music.

The protagonists of the cycle of concerts are young musicians from the Reina Sofía School of Music. The aim is to provide a platform from which to launch the career of young musicians, offering them a unique professional opportunity in the Teatro Real.

The goal of the project is to offer young enthusiasts an opportunity to share and enjoy chamber music played by students of the Reina Sofía School of Music.
