We do not understand culture without talent or talent without culture. Both are wells of knowledge that feed back and multiply social progress.

The management of the Foundation corresponds to the Board of Trustees, the body that represents it and that is fully authorised to carry out the foundational activities established by the Articles of Association and Code of Good Governance.
Talent and Culture

Supporting talent and promoting culture is the strategic centre of the activity carried out by Banco Sabadell Foundation. Our commitment to these areas has consolidated and continued to grow since 2016. Our commitment has been sealed through our support and collaboration with different entities who promote projects of this nature. A wide range of people benefit from these projects, which are an excellent opportunity to develop their talent in many different ways: gaining recognition in national or international circuits, being trained by experts, becoming inspired and motivated through conferences or joining the world of work, amongst others.

For this reason, we do not believe in culture without talent or talent without culture. Knowledge and talent are the foundations of progress in society. They are both pools of knowledge which feed each other and drive social progression. This is clear through our commitment to talented people under 40, through granting scholarships and awards.

From this perspective, the projects and collaborations which we have supported during 2016 have been characterised by their excellence, efficiency, determination and our close relationship with the entities and the beneficiaries. Discovery and continuity have been the vectors upon which we have built our actions during 2016. Discovery with regard to our support for differential projects that seek to contribute to social progress, which are aligned with our commitment to transformation and our ability to adapt to change and to the future. Continuity with regard to our collaboration with entities who are developing sound, long-term projects, and who have a strong and consolidated relationship with the Foundation.

This Report is a useful tool that serves to know the projects promoted by the Foundation

We believe that this combination is a successful formula to guaranteeing that we will overcome future challenges, whilst we enjoy the successes we have achieved to date.

Definitely, this report aims to be a useful source of information so that the reader can gain an insight into the projects led by Banco Sabadell Foundation, the entities with which it collaborates and the persons who benefit from these collaborations.

→ The award is aimed at researchers aged under 40 who have an outstanding background and experience in these fields
→ Nagore Iriberry is a Doctor in Economics, and a research professor at the University of the Basque Country. She won this award due to her excellent trajectory in experimental economics and game theory applied to the study of social behaviour
“This award represents huge support to my research”

Nagore Iriberry won the XV
Banco Sabadell Award for Economic Research
Young engineers compete against each other

Supporting the Formula Student project, organised by the Association of Automotive Technicians (STA), a competition which allows students to showcase their knowledge and skills

→ This is an annual competition in which participants compete to design, develop, build and drive single-seaters for racing.
→ The project aims to offer students an opportunity to put their knowledge into practice.
→ This competition is open to engineering students from all over the world.
Young musicians playing to Schubert

Supporting the Schubertiada, one of the most important lied festivals in Europe which offers opportunities for young talented persons → Schubertiada is a festival dedicated to classical music, with an emphasis on works by Franz Schubert, lied songs (romantic German poems played to music) and chamber music.

→ It is an annual event comprised of eight concerts in which lied performances, chamber music and piano recitals take centre stage.

“It is essential to make a commitment to talent, being on stage is what makes a musician”

Laia Puig, cello, participated in
Young people with inspirational ideas

Collaboration in the project TEDxYouth Valladolid, which gives voice to innovative ideas

→ This event celebrates and sheds light on young people’s best ideas within a space specifically created to empower and inspire young people throughout the world.
→ Those wishing to submit their idea or project to the public send in a fun and creative video, and the panel of judges selects the most interesting ones which are most likely to inspire other young people.
→ The project is designed for those who are under 22 and resident in Spain
Young talent heading to Washington

3 scholarships for the Inter-American Development Bank via the University of Oviedo

→ Three young graduates enjoyed a training period of six months at the headquarters of the Inter-American Bank in Washington.
→ The highlights of the scholarships include gaining administration experience, learning about the Inter-American Development Bank operations, as well as its policies, administrative rules and procedures.
Young, talented and creative dreamers

Collaboration with different editions of Imagine Creative Centre, an institution which promotes the talent of young people who overcome challenges through the use of innovative methodologies

→ This grant allows the winner to take part in the creative programme Imagine Express 2016, a high-speed train which goes from Barcelona to Paris and then to London whilst the dreamers aboard develop innovative technologies.

→ It is a grant for taking part in the creative programme Imagine 7 Islands, which takes place in the Canary Islands, where 4 teams worked on projects related to the tourism industry by generating disruptive ideas.

→ 3 grants for the 2016 edition of Imagine Silicon Valley, which took place in July 2016 in San Francisco.

→ Grant to take part in Imagine mSocial 2016, which aims to demonstrate the need and feasibility of projects which favour social inclusion.
